

From the streets to Sandhurst.
Can he survive & serve to lead?

Meet Noah, a mixed race (British Black & Asian)
who is a 'soldier'
(a front line drug runner) for a Newport , low level gang.

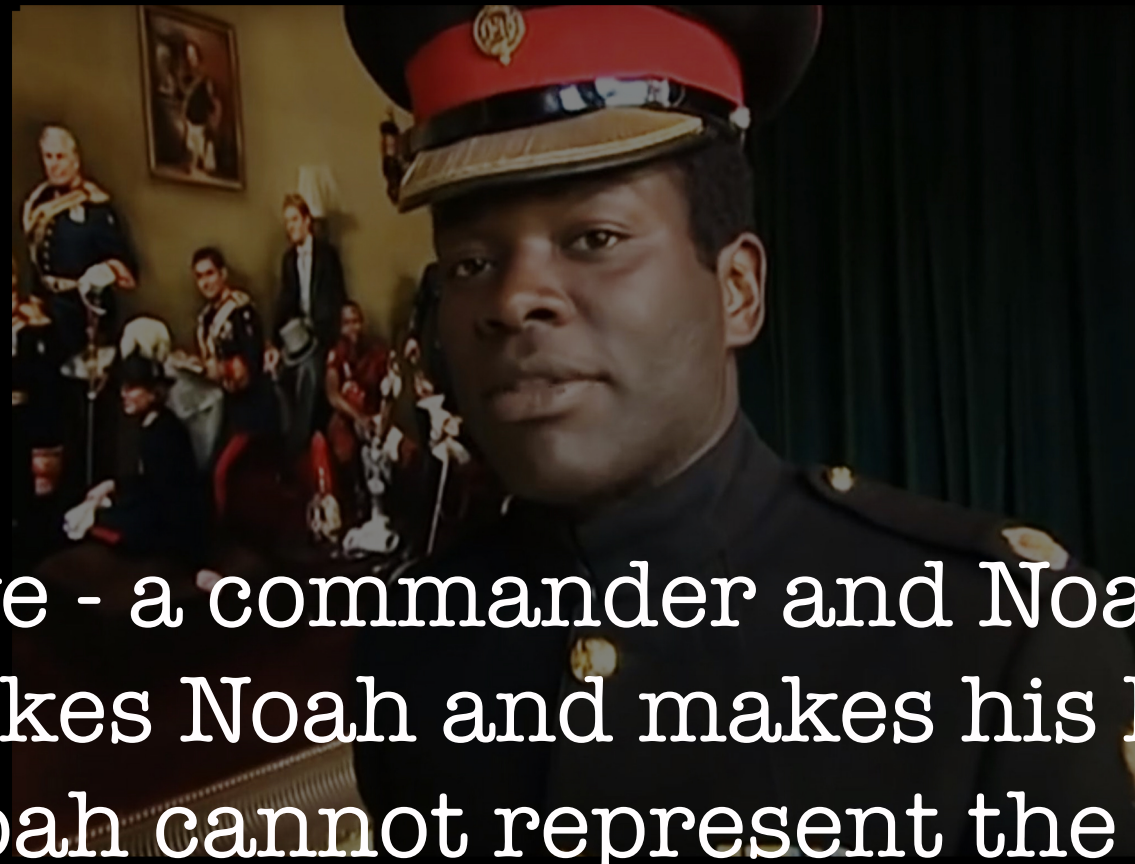

Royal Military Academy Sandhurst,
in reponse to Black Lives Matter campaign offers 4 'youths' a chance to train and become officers.

Noah arrives and the physical training and ceremonial pomp are a million miles away from his desperate mother and the estate. Noah rails against Sandhurst and returns home to be rejected by his old 'family' the gang.

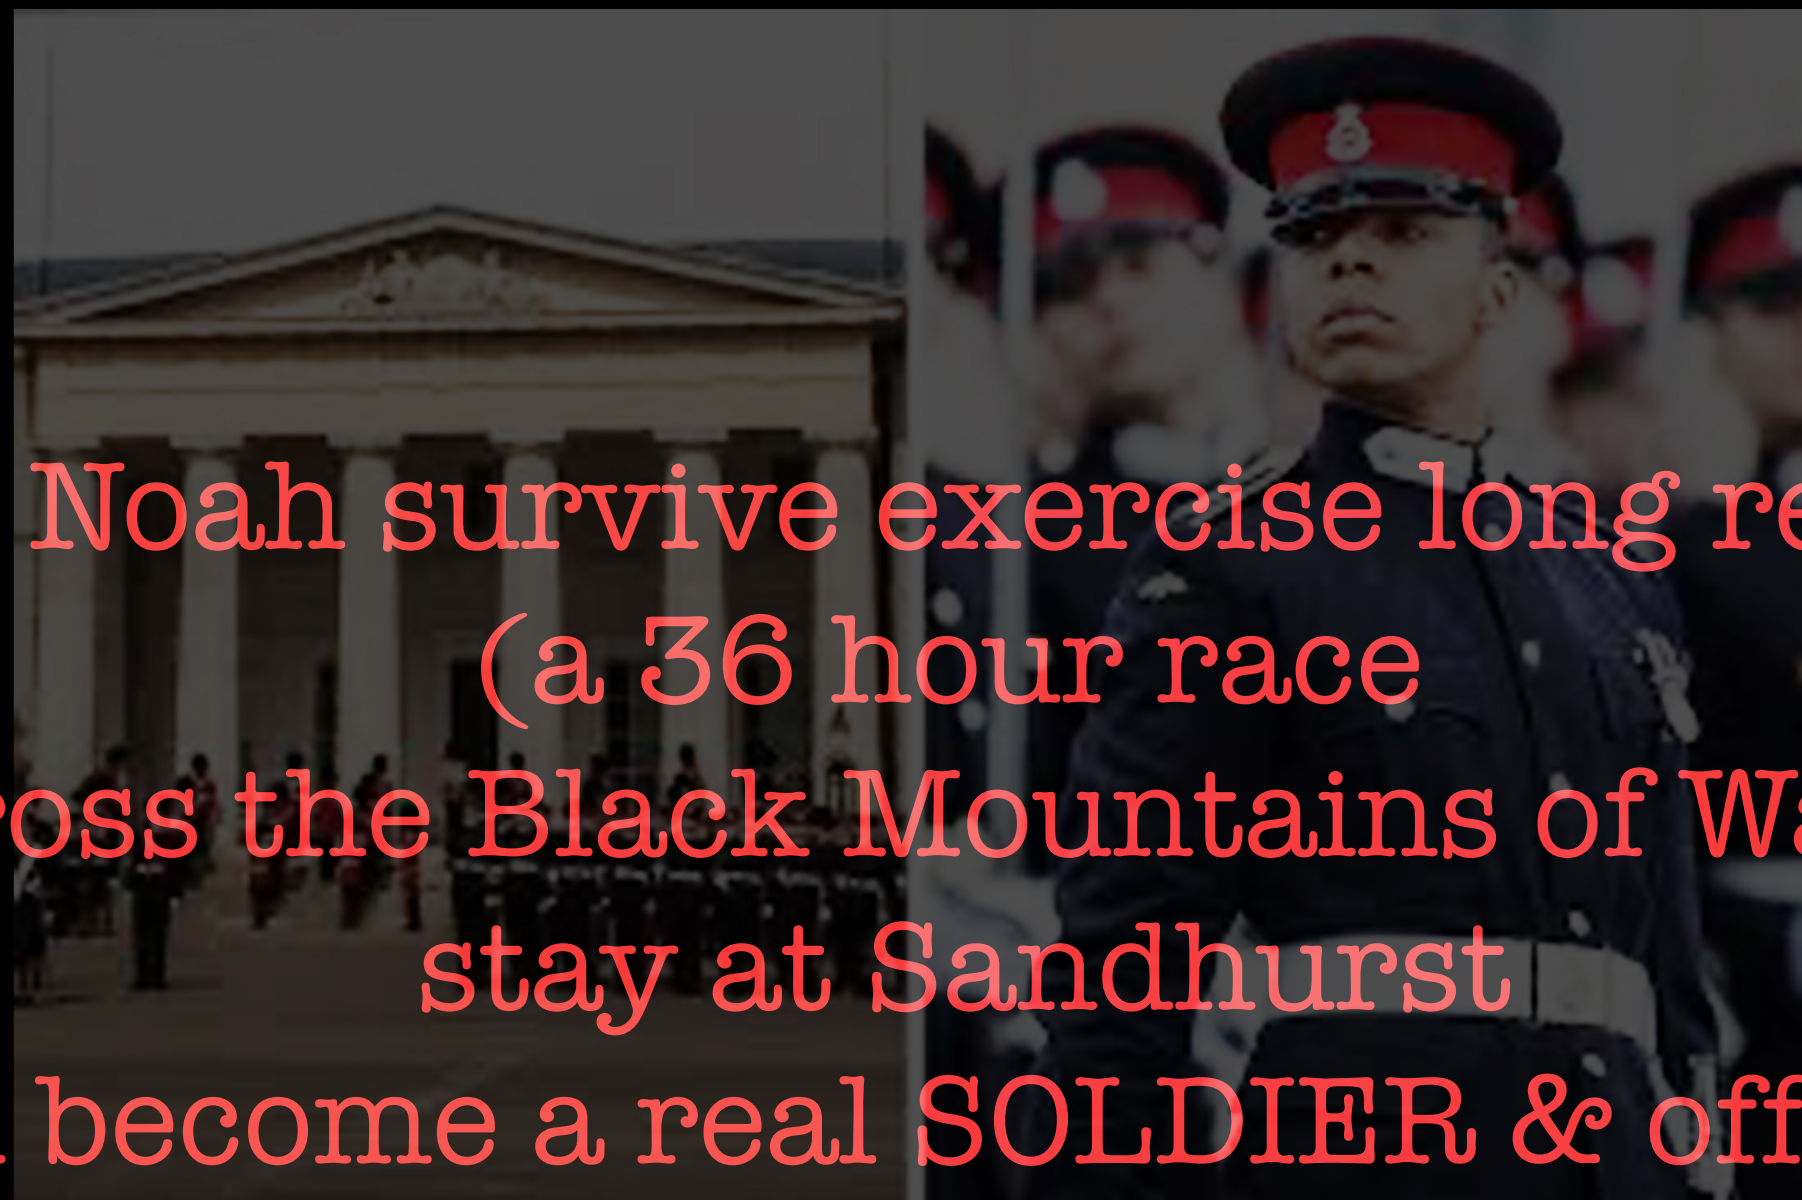

Back at Sandhurst, Noah undertakes the gruesome CBRN training - how to survive in a nuclear state. A turning point for Noah.

Charles Nwonye - a commander and Noahs training officer dislikes Noah and makes his life hell.

Noah cannot represent the Black upstanding members of the community.

Can Noah survive exercise long reach?
(a 36 hour race
across the Black Mountains of Wales)
stay at Sandhurst
and become a real SOLDIER & officer?
